

Text-emotion vectors align with the image-valence axis

Distress images induce the negative text-emotion directions

D1 · Cross-modal emotion vectors. Negative emotions (blue) align with the image-valence axis and are induced by distress images more than joy/calm (orange) — text-derived and image-derived emotion representations are the same directions.